

Phyigital Phonics Walkshop with Freemetre. Sunday 12th November. 1pm.

Remnant Walk

The walk transitions from an everyday urban environment into a discreet rewilded space – a remnant shaped by constructed borders, town planning, and natural growth.

Meeting Point

Meet on Sunday 12th November in the car park of The National Pub, leaving at 1pm. Please note the car park is for patrons only, but there is plenty of on street parking in the area.
The National Pub, 19 National Ave, Hull HU5 4HP.

Description

Beginning in a suburban area, the roadside route turns onto a waymarked track alongside a drainage dyke. The path then leads through a densely wooded area until reaching a pedestrian railway bridge. The walk then loops back through a tree-lined grassed pathway, before heading back along the dyke.

Terrain Flat, unpaved, muddy in places. Distance 2 miles Duration Up to 2 hours, allowing for creative exploration.

Equipment

No equipment is provided. Please refer to the accompanying PDFs for Phyigital Phonics 3, by Annie Luke Turner and Phoebe Riley Law, for information on mark making and sound recording. Please feel free to experience the walk in your own way.
